

PKN Orlen Awards Data Analytics and Modeling Contract to NuTech Solutions

NuTech Solutions to model consumer behavior for largest manufacturer and distributor of fuels in Poland

CHARLOTTE, N.C., May 19, 2003 – NuTech Solutions, Inc., a leading provider of advanced predictive analytics and profit optimization software products for Global 1000 companies, announced today that its Polish subsidiary, NuTech Solutions Poland, Sp. Z.o.o., has been awarded a data analytics and modeling contract from PKN Orlen S.A.

Established in 1999, in a merger between two conglomerates, PKN Orlen is currently the largest manufacturer and distributor of fuels in Poland. PKN Orlen also issues its own credit card and because of this needs to process tens of millions of transactions per year for its customers. Using this transactional data, PKN Orlen seeks to increase its knowledge on the effectiveness of their promotional campaigns.

NuTech Solutions will use its proprietary data mining tools to analyze these transactions and to build a comprehensive model of the behavior of PKN Orlen customers. The consumer models developed by NuTech Solutions will then be linked with PKN Orlen's internal databases. The first release of the consumer models for PKN Orlen's operation is scheduled for December 2003.

"We are pleased to add one of the largest crude oil corporations in Central Europe as a client of NuTech Solutions," said Matthew Michalewicz, CEO, NuTech Solutions. "Given our strength and track record in analytical, modeling and optimization solutions for clients such as ChevronTexaco and Ford Motor Company, we look forward to working with PKN Orlen on this project."
